AMAZON LAUNCHES SUBSCRIPTION-BASED PRESCRIPTION DRUG SERVICE

(Not in California yet)

On Jan. 24, Amazon announced a new Prime membership benefit from Amazon Pharmacy. RxPass will be available only as a subscription service for customers who have Amazon Prime memberships. For $5 a month, people can fill as many prescriptions as they need from a list of roughly 50 generic medications. The fee would be out of pocket and in addition to an Amazon Prime membership fee and NOT covered by Insurance Companies.

Amazon noted that Prime members could get discounts of up to 80% off generic drugs and 40% off brand-name medications that treat more than 80 common conditions—such as high blood pressure, anxiety and acid reflux—are included in the subscription. "Any customer who pays more than $10 a month for their eligible medications will see their prescription costs drop by 50% or more, plus they save time by skipping a trip to the pharmacy."

-John Love, vice president of Amazon Pharmacy

RX PASS

RxPass is available in most states but has yet to send medications to California, Louisiana, Maryland, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Texas and Washington.

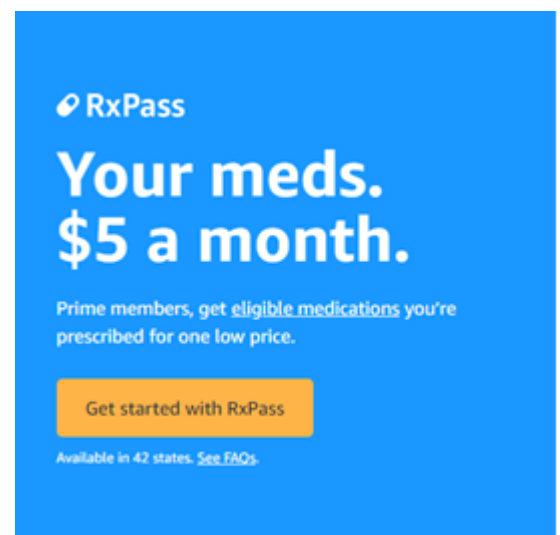

Additionally, people with government-funded Medicaid or Medicare coverage aren't eligible. Amazon accepts most health insurance plans except for use with RxPass.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

Health care costs in the United States have risen sharply over the past two decades, and prescription drug affordability is a major factor in that growth. According to the Kaiser Family Foundation, 62% of adults take at least one prescription drug, and 25% say they take four or more medications. Also, 32% of adults say they have difficulty affording their prescriptions. Unsurprisingly, the more prescriptions a person has, the harder it becomes to afford them. Not getting medications filled can result in poor health outcomes for many Americans.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN AMAZON PHARMACY & PILLPACK

Amazon Pharmacy is the pharmacy, while PillPack is a subsidiary service under Amazon Pharmacy. PillPack is designed for those who take multiple medications, with the pharmacists sorting the medications into individual packets, delivered monthly.

The packets contain the correct dosages, making it easier for patients to manage their medications and avoid confusion. If you take multiple medications, PillPack delivers them in separate packets according to the daily dosage required.

Prefer your meds in packets?

Also consider your options with Mark Cuban Drug Company. They sell more generic drugs, many for under $5; however, not a flat fee.

A LETTER FROM MARK CUBAN

We started Mark Cuban Cost Plus Drug Company because every American should have access to safe, affordable medicines. If you don't have insurance or have a high deductible plan, you know that even the most basic medications can cost a fortune. Many people are spending crazy amounts of money each month just to stay healthy. No American should have to suffer or worse - because they can't afford basic prescription medications. If you are fortunate enough to have health insurance with a low deductible, the high cost of drugs is driving up the premiums that you or your employer pay, making getting health insurance expensive and challenging.

Cost Plus Drugs: wholesale price + 15% markup + $3 pharmacy fee + $5 shipping charge. No Membership fee, and they do not take insurance. You can flash ship for $25. There are no pharmacist you can speak with.

he Mark Cuban Cost Plus Drug Company takes these problems head on...Every product we sell is priced exactly the same way: our cost plus 15%, plus the pharmacy fee, if any. When you get your medicine from Cost Plus Drug Co., you'll always know exactly how we arrived at the price you pay. And as we grow and our costs go down, we will always pass those savings on to you! We started this company as an effort to disrupt the drug industry and to do our best to end ridiculous drug prices. Thanks for your support, and please let us know what you think!
